Door specialist TDS says the constant variety and growing trend for refurbishment make for positive progress

ransport Door Solutions (TDS) considers itself to be the market leading supplier of bus door parts, technical support and training services in the UK & Ireland. Its partnership with volume bus door supplier Ventura Systems of Holland galvanises and enhances its position.

TDS is exhibiting at CBWShow to highlight its main business focus, to support all parties in the aftermarket arena to help maintain the bus door products present in as many vehicles as possible to ensure a long, reliable and safe service life.

"To this end," says the company, "we continue to develop and supply our increasingly popular door service kits, door type specific spare parts boxes and maintenance supporting tooling and consumables. We enjoy supporting an ever changing demand for parts and support service, with no days or even hours the same from such a diverse and multi location customer base.

"Our main sales territory focus is in the UK and Ireland, but we also receive many global enquiries for support on older and non UK built door systems for which we have a good range of universal parts that can assist operators. Our regularly updated website with its page 1 ranking on Google certainly drives a lot of activity."

And looking at the wider picture, TDS has a positive outlook: "2025 has been a strong year for TDS. We've continued to expand our UK based staff and grow our extensive stockholding of locally stored spare parts. Our close partnership with

TDS supplies door systems and popular refurbishment kits too. TRANSPORT DOOR SOLUTIONS

Ventura Systems ensures our customers receive the highest quality products, technical expertise, and aftersales support. We've recently made key investments in stocking more larger long lead time items such as pre-glazed door frames and fully assembled door shafts, in a new facility opposite our office base in Essex.

"Looking ahead, 2026 will see further investment in innovation, training, and technical capability. We're focused on enhancing our customer experience, improving service response times, and further expanding our range of quick access key parts. Our aim remains the same — to be the UK's most trusted partner for customers, delivering dependable products and outstanding support every step of the way." //
